

SIU Welcomes Orthopaedic Specialists to Quincy

SIU School of Medicine welcomes Drs. Nitin Kukkar and P.J. Lattanzio, offering comprehensive orthopaedic care. Both come to Quincy with over six years of combined fellowship training beyond their combined 16 years of medical school and residency training. They are looking forward to living and working in the Quincy community.

Dr. Kukkar most recently completed a spine surgery fellowship at Southern Illinois University School of Medicine. He also has completed fellowships in musculoskeletal oncology (Harvard Medical School) and joint reconstruction and arthroplasty (Columbia University, NY). His special interests include bone and soft tissue tumor surgery, minimally invasive spine surgery and cervical and lumbar disc replacement.

Dr. Lattanzio most recently completed a fellowship in shoulder surgery at the University of Western Ontario. In the recent past he's also completed fellowships in knee surgery (Guy's Hospital in London), and Sports Medicine (University of Toronto).
